

Keepers of the Waters 2012 Calendar

From the Sierra Nevada to the Himalayas, upland water sources have sustained human life and cultural traditions for centuries. As these waters are threatened, so are entire communities, along with their traditions and ways of life. Keepers of the Waters is working in China to document these irreplaceable water sources and to ensure their survival.

To celebrate these rich and incredible water sites, Keepers of the Waters has compiled gorgeous images in a 2012 Calendar that will inspire. They make great gifts and support our mission to protect the waters of the world.

To receive your calendars, please let us know the quantity you want and your mailing address. Each calendar is $25 plus $3 shipping. Please consider an additional donation that supports our projects 100%. Place your order by email and mail your check or money order to:
